French Magistrate Convinced of Guilt by "Bite."

Jan. 31.-Even the finger print method of obtaining evidence against criminals has been excelled by the police in establishing a burglar's identity from the tooth marks which he left in a pat of butter.

Pierre Bassaud, the alleged burglar, broke into his former employer's premises at Montreuil-Sous-Bois. Failing to discover any valuables, he went to the kitchen and had a feast. When arrested he denied the charge, but the police found the marks of his teeth, including one which was broken, ex-actly reproduced in a lump of butter, into which he had probably bitten by mistake in the dark.

Bassuad still protested innocence, ut when the magistrate before whom he was arraigned sent for some butter and made the prisoner bite into
